Yamaha Music Australia has announced its new 11.2 channel (140W x 7 + 50W x 4) flagship receiver, the RXZ11. HDMI version 1.3a provides support for the latest audio formats from DTS and Dolby, while ensuring pass-through of 1080p video signal. Other features include 11.2 assignable channels to power up to four zones with independent sources, including component-video out for zone two, and network receiver functionality. Analogue video signals will up-convert to HDMI, and upscale to full HD 1080p image quality. The receiver also features improvements to the YPAO calibration system and compressed music enhancer.
